

The Anti-Kerry special is too negative to be considered straight television at this time. It is clearly an advertisement meant to persuade. It clearly is meant to benefit the Bush campaign and so should be considered part of that campaign, as a commercial.

Elise Archias
PhD candidate, History of Art, UC Berkeley